Diversity and Culture in Leadership: A Global Perspective

A collaborative initiative by the Australia China Business Council, AmCham, German-Australian Chamber of Industry and Commerce, Australia Indonesia Business Council and the Australia Arab Chamber of Commerce and Industry

Today corporations recognise the power of diversity in gender and culture as competitive tools in business. Leaders of organisations understand the need for cross-cultural competencies. To ignore cultural differences is unproductive and choosing not to see diversity will limit the ability to manage. For many organisations, the definition of global diversity should encompass an understanding of the variances between cultures as well as the internal range within each country.

Our panel of inspiring speakers will celebrate and explore the contribution of women to leadership in international business.
