An enterprising career

Where do we start and stop on the achievements of Monash alumna, Beverley Honig? On International Women's Day this year, Beverley Honig was inducted into the 2016 Business Hall of Fame, and 12 months ago, the global business consultant, lawyer and author was recognised in the Business Enterprise category of the Australian Financial Review and Westpac 100 Women of Influence Awards.

With a dual degree in Law and Arts from Monash, Beverley has accumulated more than 20 years' experience across three continents as a multilingual business and commercial property lawyer. She now proudly leads one of Australia's leading consultancies, Honeylight Enterprises where she mentors businesses, invests in start-ups and imports medical devices. Having assisted hundreds of enterprises from small-to-medium businesses, corporate and government departments to expand and prosper, Beverley simultaneously manages to maintain a long list of extracurricular activities including sitting as a judge with the Essential Services Commission Appeals, contributing to higher education and performing the role of Board Director on behalf of organisations such as the Melbourne Markets Authority, Centre for Adult Education and the Australia-Israel Chamber of Commerce.
